G-MAN TO SPEAK BEFORE STUDENT BODY ON FEB. 27

W. H. D. Lester, Federal Police School Head, Here.

One of the top-notch "G-men" of the United States will address the student body on Thursday, Feb. 27. He will also address other groups in the city.

The speaker will be W. H. Drum Lester, inspector in the Federal Bureau of Investigation of the U. S. Department of Justice and one of the administrative assistants to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the bureau.

Brought by Waverly A. A. U. W. Mr. Lester's address, presented exclusively by the Waverly chapter of the American Association of University Women.

According to present plans, he will address that organization, the Wartburg student body, the Rotary club, the high school assembly, and possibly other groups.

Instructor in Schools.

Mr. Lester is an instructor in charge of the bureau of investigation's three schools for city and federal agents and police officers.

Mr. Hoover's letter introducing Mr. Lester, coming to Waverly states also that he is a "native Mississippian," a graduate of the University of Mississippi (B. A., M. A., L. L. B.) and of Oxford University (Rhodes Scholar) and has "attended as a Rhodes scholar. He was the instructor in Diplomatic and English at Harvard and of an appointee of the president of Harvard University to the faculty of Robert Lee College, the University of Mississippi, and the university of Memphis, Tenn., where he engaged in the practice of law for five and a half years prior to entering the bureau in 1932.

"Will Be Educational."

"We are very desirous of obtaining such a speaker of our convention program," writes Mr. Hilliard, chairman of the convention program committee, "and this will prove very educational as well as interesting."

12 SEMESTER SUBJECTS ADDED

Six Social Science Courses Offered; More Religion, English, Science.

Twelve new semester subjects have been added to the Wartburg curriculum, according to a statement issued from the registrar's office. All are listed in the catalog under the Social Science Courses Added.

Social science courses with the new classes predominate in the list of new subjects. Dr. Martin Wanderscheer, head of the department of sociology, will teach a course in sociation, elementary methods of estimation, and history of sociological courses. Educational psychology is taught by Prof. Avin Fritz, psychology instructor, who also teaches a new course in social psychology.

Add Christianity Courses.

Two Christianity courses have been added: Christian education, taught by Dr. Paul Martin, and the teaching methods used in religious instruction, taught by Prof. Fritz, required for all senior pre-theological students. Also added are courses in Bible, Christianity and modern society, taught by Dr. Martin, and a Bible seminar.

Offer More Science.

Analytical geometry, a course in quantitative analysis (a new addition to the chemistry department), Prof. A. W. Bunsen, head of the department, is offering a lecturer. Elements of geography and a course in surveying, taught by Prof. A. A. Arbel, are also newly added to the science curriculum.

Miss Alice Posin, freshman, of Waterloo, Wisconsin, recently returned from Mercy hospital where she had undergone an appendectomy.

Several alumni attended the Wartburg-Bluffton basketball game at Bluffton on Feb. 7. Among them were: Rev. Heidt Aase, '27, Rev. Wm. Bunge, '30, Arthur Bunge, '31, Ralph Aase, '33, and Alvin Zwanziger, '34.

Blizzard Causes Much Distress At The College

DRIFTS STRAND 15 STUDENTS

Basketball Games Postponed; Other Events Delayed; Shortage of Coal.

Luther Hall was ordered closed Saturday because of a lack of sufficient coal. Classes are now being held in the dormitories.

Due to the coal shortage city officials of Waverly have been forced to close a number of business houses, in addition to theatres, churches, and elementary schools.

Fifteen Wartburg students found themselves snowed under Saturday, their classes lost Monday morning.

The students, who had left for home Friday, found their return to Wartburg blocked by drifts and cut off for a record of some kind by making the trip to Waverly. The group included Ina Vellner, Robert Blaser, Gerhardt Reiff, Jerry Jelsma, Ralph Ho Kooi, Joseph Kerr, Ed Kaiser, Ione Gruening, Irene Oppertmann, Wallace Prentice, and Richard Schaefer had returned to Waverly Friday, but were unable to get back to the college. Arthur Frey, Paul Schaefer, and Paul Schaefer had gone as far as Waverly, but had turned back to Waverly to spend the week-end, they returned to Waverly and thus to Waverly.

Elsie Pederson, Oelwein, Iowa, also returned Tuesday morning with the others.

Other Students Late.

Herbert Arb, Tobias Beyers and Orlief Reinking were also delayed in returning. Illinois roads were blocked by drifts, and the trip from Peoria could not be made until Monday evening.

Kathryn Kaiser was unable to return from her home in Waterloo until Wednesday evening.

Somebody could up the class the fifteen missed.

Professor Delayed.

Prof. Gerhard Dorman was also among those absent on Monday. Returning from a lecture tour and conference in Iowa City, he could not go further than Waverly Monday. He returned Tuesday morning to the campus.

The Wartburg Choral team did not make the Lennox high school for last Tuesday. The 3 boys was able enable to go to Waterloo to Waterloo to sing at the Lennox.

Another trip of Wartburg was also postponed when the quartet trip of the Delphic Luther Leagues was called off on account of the snow and cold weather. The quartet and a group of Wartburg students had made the trip in prospect planned.

Chorlet Couldn't Sing.

The Wartburg male quartet, composed of George Mardorf, Rusty Schaldemann, Elmer Kretzschmar and Sidney Sebelius, had to cancel a Saturday night trip, when they found they had been scheduled to sing at Elton Lutheran church. Snow and low temperature also prevented any of the members from attending.

Thursday morning was too cold. Washburners decided, to walk to church, instead of to Waverly. It was in charge of a stalin service in the morning. At Wartburg Hall, snow a hundred students and Basketball games.

Coal Supply Dwindles.

Alma Kern, Rich Gruening, Erik Arthur Schoop can thank the cold weather for their vacation, as the meeting meeting and week-end Wartburg Hall. Coal was forced to close its school Tuesday. Since the coal supply dwindles, it could not open for the remainder of the week.

No music or physical education classes were held in the college Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday. Classes will be opened as soon as possible.

LINCOLN SPEECH GIVEN BY DEAN

Miss Kaiser Gives Address on Youth; Drs. Rahlf and Sparks Talk.

"The man: Abraham Lincoln" was the commemoration in the February 12 convocation, of which Dr. O. J. Nurmen was in charge. Answering the question, whereby lies the greatness and popularity of Lincoln, Dr. Nurmann polled out that Lincoln was by nature a genius, the principle problems which he had, to face in those days of civil war he solved. Lincoln possessed a very high sense of duty and he was perhaps unlike in the presidential chair the greatest of all.

Speaks of Youth.

Miss Katherine Kaiser, chairman of women, spoke on "Foundations of the Common Man Ed by Youth." Monday, Feb. 10. "Young people of today are the two crossroads they must choose for themselves," Miss Kaiser said. She also spoke of the advantages of the training of youth, so advantageous to the youth of today. She also spoke of the problem of today should turn to God in these days of doubt and should give the words of David, "My trust, O Lord, is in Thy hands."

Dr. W. A. Rahlf, Waverly, gave an illustrated lecture on Monday, Feb. 4. "Alaska shorts in reviews and in geography and history," he said. Streams full of salmon, Alaskan bears, scenery and scenes were included in the picture.

"Martial Times" was the subject of Dr. Sparks' convocation, was in charge of the regular Thursday convocation held Feb. 6.

Richard Schoolhouser, senior pre-theological student, was in charge of the student convocation Feb. 6. Speaking on "Ideals of Life," he stated that presidents give pep talks. In the student convocation he spoke on not the food of moral, and and of the spiritual.

In short liturgical exercise was held Feb. 5.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Every school is judged by its students. Their education is its aim, which it strives to achieve in all possible ways. This also is true of Wartburg. The curriculum is arranged for the varying needs of the students; extra-curricular activities are planned for their social developments; rules are made to keep the standards high and friction at a minimum.

Since this is true, certainly the students should have some voice in the government which directs them. Up to this time, the faculty has almost completely governed all phases of student life. The students have had little if any voice in those vital affairs of their school.

The acquiring of the ability to share responsibility and to make decisions is a vital part of an education. Where can the students better obtain this than in a student government? As one faculty member so aby stated it: "One essential quality and purpose of student government is the sharing of responsibility." At Antioch college in Ohio, the students share a great deal of the responsibility in the governing of their school. The result is that regulatory discipline is found unnecessary at Antioch.

Student opinion is overwhelmingly in favor of self-government. They are willing and anxious to assist in coordination of all phases of school life and activities. Members of the faculty also feel that student government is desirable.

Nearly every college has some form of student council which works with the faculty in directing student affairs. This makes for greater harmony and unity in the student body itself and also between faculty and students. Greater efficiency in accomplishing the aims is also obtained. All three schools which were united to form our Wartburg found student government to be very satisfactory.

Students are demanding some voice in the government of their school. The Trumpet suggests the organization of a representative student council, composed of members chosen from each class. This student council should be empowered to act in the direction of affairs closely connected with student life, for instance, they should be represented on the activities and athletic committees, which direct the extra curricular activities of the students.

If possible, a student council should be organized this year. The second semester has hardly begun. Many problems of student life will still arise. However if for some justifiable reason it is found inadvisable to elect a student council for the remainder of this year, spring elections should be held to insure one for next year.

The Trumpet asks for a student body meeting in the near future to consider and discuss this matter.

WE EXPRESS OUR APPRECIATION

We wish to express our appreciation to the faculty for writing and editing the last issue of the Trumpet, which appeared immediately after the semester examinations. The staff appreciates this expression of faculty cooperation, which enabled them to devote their entire time to examinations. This issue, (Feb. 3) served as a Valentine to fifteen hundred copies were sent throughout the mid-west.

STUDENTS TEACH IN HIGH SCHOOL

Three Students Practice Teach in High School, Eight in the Elementary Schools.

Wartburg students who will be graduated from teaching courses this spring are now engaged in practice teaching at three of the area schools for the first six weeks of this semester.

Three Teach at High School.

Three graduates of the four-year teaching course are in charge of classes at the Waverly high school. Gertrude Voelker is teaching a class in eighth grade history and one in seventh grade math. John Hafermann has charge of two classes in ninth grade English.

Teaching English literature for more to the tenth grade class and grammar in the ninth is Ruth Wolf.

Teach in Elementary Schools.

The education department headed by Dr. M. Wiedenkaus, has also to fulfill practice teaching for the students of the elementary teaching course.

Alma Hoch, Ruth Coppoll, and Arthur Schmidt are teaching in the elementary school at the Waverly Orphans Home. At the parochial school of St. Paul's church, Gerhardt Dolling, Lydia Lockner, Ruth Frick, Martin Lessenberg, and Dorothy Meyer are engaged in practice teaching.

Other students plan to enroll in the practice teaching course next fall, so that the necessary arrangements have been made.

DISTITCHES

By Arno B. Oberfeller

Here we are again; time has passed and with it the school year. Suppose we start out the column with a poem on spring? Is it all right with you? O. K.

Exams are over,
Vacation is here,
We've flung off our burdens,
Free as the same fun.
Few hours and hours
Will be studying and assigned;
But now tests are over,
And profs have been screamed.

But, by, don't come too soon,
Tho we've neared the very dead,
And, face, do not break into a smile
Tho the report card has been sent.
(—H. H. A.)

Here is what Bagard Taylor over wrote on the subject of discussion:
"Pains is what you have taken,
Chance is what you take,
When to this truth you awaken,
Then you begin to live."

A lock, a lock, a word is enough, not impolitely, to betray the man book of it the mechanics being the characteristic!

Leschensky's guess my father must have been a pretty bad boy.

Keith—Why?

Leschensky: Because he knows exactly what questions to ask when he wants to know what I've been doing.

There are too many men who make the supplement of this verse the motion of their creed:
This is the burden of my song,
I sing it day and night:
Why are so many always wrong
And I am always right?

And now I must close. Let's take this little thought along with us for the week-end, boys and girls:

"Pleasure is like the mirror on the swinging pendulum; each one succeeds the one that has the hardest."

So as the eminent major says, "Good morning, friends."

The Wartburg-Elsworth basketball game scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 11, has been cancelled, announced Coach Elmer Hertel, director of athletic Friday. Coal shortage caused the cancellation.

LITERARY CORNER

MOONLIGHT REVELS

Over her rampart, slowly ascending,
Yola the Moon moves on her lofty way;
Over the tree tops, gorgeously painted,
Fills dark night bird in silvery array.

Over the green meadow, she shines, moving fire-fly
Bits lavish the mist in the moon-covered dale;
Sweetly the lay of a not-threaded songster
Rips with the thrills of a gay mirth-ingale.

Hearty on the sward many fleet-footed shadows
Chase to the whims of a frolicsome breeze;
Sudden they scurry and change their wayed figures
As gently the winds fan the whimsical leaves.

When the breezes responds to the impulse,
Quivering the leaves fan the whimsical breezes,
Then song the shore near the sweet-blushing Hibs
Creaks a will chair in fantastic dialogue.

Thus in the arms of the flowers
Jovial,
Fan of the nymphs and a retreat for men,
Serene rejoices and sends fresh her music,
Wafted by winds over crag and cleft.

Joh. —Prof. R. J. Rieubick.

WINTER.

The snow is blowing through the trees,
Stripping off the last few leaves.
Winter's cry on us descends,
As God a new born beauty lends.
Covered white all over and cold,
While nature slumbers, a sure look-ed cloak.
But we rejoice the sun will shine,
And the world will soon revive.
Life that has been dense
And with a slow growth, will break of the trees.
—Anna B. Oberfeller.

UPON SEEING A WATERFALL.

Rushing over with a roar
The swirling, twirling, tumbling water
Of foam and spray to have an over-flow
Sound for the sea, we only guess.
The twirling spray of the stream,
A twirl current, that is chief
Against the banks that only hem.

Tunnel Under Hudson River

The top of the Holland Vehicular tunnel over the Hudson river at New York city is 72 feet below high water. The roadway of the tunnel is 50 feet below high water.

John Bell Was a Mailman

John Bell was a celebrated surgeon and anatomist. The date of his birth is not known, it probably occurred about 1690. He is known to have died in Antioch on March 17, 1745. A certain "spy" which is probably the same as that of the British colonist, as Cow is referred to him.

Comments by the President

Liberal or Vocational Training?

Today the American boy may select a liberal or a vocational training. The one tends to focus the mind on a particular trade of profession; the other tends to broaden a man's mental horizon by stimulating the imagination, broadening the sympathies and liberating the mind from ignorance prejudice and superstition.

Vocational training begets skill; liberal training affords power to do things which one has never dared before. The best of a liberal college course, says Mr. J. H. Finley, is the power it gives to see, to feel, to appreciate what the master and the book has discovered. Can you understand structures and appreciate a engineer's point of view? Can you analyze a complex economic situation, or see the right and wrong in capital and labor? Can you discover the reason for a deficit in business? If you can, most certainly, he says, you may be a poor artisan of a poor bookkeeper, but you will shape some civilization that is to be.

The day of the one-sided specialists, we are happy to say, is passing to an end. Doctors, lawyers, merchants and farmers are expected to be able to speak intelligently on other things than "shop." That is why the best schools of the land are now offering courses which impart both skill and knowledge. That is why various professions today participate in a B. degree as a prerequisite to professional training. Wartburg college is proud of its liberal arts courses, and you or your parents are interested in sending a thoroughly liberal training remember WARTBURG at Waverly.

ORGANIZATIONS

Hilltop Addresses Pre-Theos

The Institute of the Church Textbook, Sodia and Evangelical Review" was the topic presented by Dr. Hanser to the Pre-Theological Society at their meeting Feb. 11. A discussion of the topic followed. Faculty and alumni points were presented. The question of getting good ones discussed in the business meeting.

Round Table Discusses AAA

The AAA, the recent decisions of court decisions concerning it were presented by Mark Friese at the meeting of the Round Table held Feb. 4 in the lounge of Wartburg Hall. Mr. Friese stressed the importance of all American citizens having an understanding of these decisions and legislation. Discussion followed. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Pi Sigs Plan Party

Plans for the all-comer Valentine party of Pi Sigs 14, were discussed at the Pi Sigma meeting on Feb. 11. Games were enjoyed during the social hour, and at the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

Organist Speaks Chris.

A speech club to study history and to learn how to present orations was constituted by members of Prof. A. M. Grossmann Wednesday evening, Feb. 5. Meetings will be held weekly. All Wartburg students are eligible for membership.

Science Club Meets

The biology and chemistry students of Wartburg college, Jessie Lehnhoff, president, and Prof. Robert Schorb presided on the preparation of slides for microscopic work. He demonstrated the different steps, and then showed how complete microbies are opened. Art Neumann addressed the members on "How Dentists Now Can Painlessly Drill Teeth." He spoke "Practical application of chemistry in everyday life," was presented by Wilfred Kohl.

During the business meeting Wednesday, former vice president, was given an honorary release. Paul Schorb will succeed him. Robert Winder was elected to succeed Jessie Lehnhoff as the secretary representative on the publication.

Martha Walde, '35, is employed at the West Publishing company in St. Paul, Minn.

THREE PROFS. TO DUBUQUE MEET

Pension Plan Approved by Educational Conference; Draw up Salary List.

Pension plans for teachers in colleges of the American Lutheran Church were approved by a joint conference of the Board of Christian Higher Education with the professors of the schools of the American Lutheran Church held at Wartburg Seminary, Dubuque, Jan. 27, 28 and 29. A salary schedule drawn up by Martin Wiederaender, president of Wartburg college, Waverly, was approved.

All colleges of the synod were represented. Texas Lutheran college, Seguin, Tex. Luther College, Decorah, Iowa. Hamline College, Redwing, Sask.; Hebron Junior college, Hebron, Nebr.; Capital University, Columbus, Ohio; Wartburg Seminary, Dubuque; and the Wartburg college at Waverly.

Four Courses Discussed

New courses of study were discussed, the expansion of educational work was considered, and problems of various schools were investigated. Presidents of various schools reported on their peculiar difficulties and achievements. Pres. E. J. Brandt stated Friday "The conference was very sympathetic in its attitude work being done at all the schools."

Many Presidents Attend.

College presidents attending the meeting included Pres. E. J. Brandt, Wartburg college; Pres. Otto Krauthoer, Texas Lutheran college; Pres. Schroeder, Hamline college; Pres. Otto Moe, Capital University; Pres. Rethmeier, Hebron college, and Pres. Emil Hausch, Wartburg seminary.

Board members were Dr. C. B. Greening, Waverly, the Rev. Norman Mecker, Detroit, Mich.; Dr. J. H. Schuh, Toledo, O.; Prof. Rudolf Kreuzhauer, Pierre, S. D., and the Rev. J. Beckey, Fond du Lac, Wis.

President Greening, Dr. Wiederaenders and the Rev. Arthur Braun represented Wartburg college at the meeting.

SENIORS

Erhardt "Rusty" Stallkamper

The son of Rev. and Mrs. P. Schallkamper, was born in Lowryville, Wisconsin. After taking his grade school work in his home town he transferred to the academy at Wartburg College, Clinton, Iowa.

His first year of college work was taken at Wartburg Normal college here in Waverly, whereafter he took his next two years at Clinton.

Rusty is taking a "Pre-Theo" course with a major in Greek and intending to enter the seminary at Dubuque next fall. His hobby is radio work. His best diversion is playing the piano. He is active in choral work and takes an active interest in extra-curricular activities.

Marvin Schroeder

The son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Schroeder is a native Iowan. His first impression of the world were received at LaMoille, Iowa.

His secondary work was taken at Grossmann Hall Residents Prove Themselves Hardy

Wartburg may be a cold, cold campus. But the hardy Grossmann dormites "freeze" even with three-foot drifts blocking their way to classes and meals.

been developed to brighten the dreary way to class. The object seems to be to stand and slide or roll down the barrier. Some sarcastic souls are content to pull up the collars of their overcoats and make the two-block dash with minimum effort, but the nonconformists prefer the fine art of the snow, which is exactly the right depth for pushing in some unwary freshman or anyone else.

Wartburg Hall is content to watch the night from warm rooms and shiver in sympathy.

Rev. A. O. Dinner, pastor of St. Johns Lutheran church of Mazomanie, Wis., and Zion's Lutheran at Prairie, Wis., is enjoyed to miss Elizabeth Kunder of Milwaukee. The wedding will take place in August.

KNIGHTS DROP ELKADER CAGERS BY 40-16 SCORE

Elkader Team Helpless Beneath Crushing Attack.

Coach Bartel's Wartburg Knights travelled to Elkader on Friday, February 7, to completely demolish the Elkader Aggies by the lop-sided score of 40-16. The score would have been even more overwhelming had Coach Bartel kept his first string in the fray instead of sending in his reserves to play the last sixteen minutes of the contest. Every man on the travelling squad saw action and even in the last 16 minutes the second string outplayed Elkader's six points by pushing up ten Wartburg. The Orange and Black completely outclassed the Elkader Aggies in every department and five of Elkader's seven field goals were earned from far out on the floor beyond the free throw circle.

In the first few minutes the Wartburg team had difficulty penetrating the Elkader defense but finally found the range and had little difficulty in scoring the score up to 7-0. Elkader then came into play. Matters were little better after the Aggies had talked things over for the evening. Knights succeeded in press the attack rolling up some more tallies to a lead Elkader away from the free-throw line, leaving the score at 19-4 at Elkader when the half took time out for refreshments. As they was remained Elkader dropped in two baskets but the Knights replaced with two more to make the half ended 22-6, Wartburg. In the last five minutes of the game with the Knights pushing because some time of the game during which the fury of the Wartburg attack was somewhat slacked.

The Knights came on the floor for the second half and renewed their breath-taking attack, their sixty-minute finishing the game. Coach Bartel sent in two substitutes and the Knights continued their attack in the second period. Bartel replaced his entire first string with the exception of Opperman and the reserves responded to lead the Aggies a way while the second Knight team to the already overwhelming score. Twenty ten minutes of the game the second half before the Elkader team was able to score.

Every Knight sent into the ballgame was worth more than a dozen his Arab opponent. Harden and Opperman were both better than commanding for eleven points each. Rogers, Opperman and Kaiser in summer were the bulwarks in defense and made shots from the Elkader team to let three field goals through. Rogers knows, was able to stick three baskets and five charity tosses for 11 points.

INQUIRING REPORTER

Recently considerable comment has been heard on the campus regarding student government at Wartburg. The Inquiring Reporter gave great weight to the discussion on this matter.

Elmer Kretschmar, senior, of Sumner: "At all schools within a reasonable distance, there always been some form of student government. Wartburg is a cosmopolitan school with students who make up the school. Why should they have no voice in its government? I suggest that we have a student council."

Doris M. Wiedenkeller, sophomore, Waverly: "Student government is a splendid thing if conducted in a moderate way. It is very valuable in the development of self-direction and the sharing of responsibility in later life. A school without student government is behind the times."

Gerhard Reitz, junior, of Waverly: "Student government should have student government. I would suggest a student council. Bring more harmony in the student body. Since students are expected to take an active part in the activities of the school, they certainly should have some part in the government of the school."

Fred A. M. Bowman, chairman of the activities committee: "Student government is a good idea. Some of college life is highly desirable. It gives the students the practical training to better evaluate statements and conditions. Thus leading to a sounder decision on matters arising later in life's speech. Students in sharing the responsibility of the school's government will raise themselves to a higher level. A closer association between the students and faculty will also be enlarged."

Edwin Sessler, freshman, of Waverly: "I feel we should have a student council. It would give more interest in the school's activities and more harmony between the students and the faculty."

Rev. A. W. Spaude, director: "It is my opinion that Wartburg should have student government. A student council should prove more satisfactory. Students should be represented on all committees where given their activities, such as the athletic council and the activities committee. I feel that students should also have some part in the governing of school discipline."

Ernest Boettcher, junior, of New Hampton: "Student government should be a reality. Some games are on foreign territory. The athletes are the ones who represent the school, the Engineers in two affairs. Anyone who is interested in athletics with Milton and Northwestern. The athletes and Engineers have to agree with their three wins, taking the Wartburg game by means of an overtime period, and defeating Milton by a score of 32-31.

Northwestern was downed by an eight point margin for the other win. It thus appears that the Minstrels have lost two games by less than a dozen points, one each to Milton, the Engineers, and the Knights on the home floors of these teams. Proved that the Minstrels have lost the other games this world leaves them with a percentage of 500.

Now turning to Mission in second place in the Minstrel race we find that they have only four losses to their credit, one each the Minstrel drop three and the Engineers drop one. Mission's record still gain the long flag by winning every game in their remaining games. However Mission must yet meet Milton and Northwestern. Mission has already defeated the Mission club on Mission home floor, one shot short of a victory on the Northwestern home floor. It would then be in Mission's hands to defeat Milton and Northwestern. Should Mission do this it would have the championship. Chances for a tight victory for Mission they are defeated by only six points in the game.

In third place due to their defeat at the hands of the Harvard team we find the Wartburg Engineers. Harvard has lost two games and remains in the race with four games to their credit. Northwestern's three games are as follows: Two with the Minstrels one each with Northwestern and Mission. Should they defeat with the Minstrels, and the Mission drop their engagement with the Knights and another of the five road games, the Engineers would be tied for first.

Down in fourth place, although having won the most games in the conference and having also played the most in the Wartburg Knights. Having won five and lost three with only two left the Knights must make a clean sweep of Mission and the Minstrels and thus hope for a tie for the championship.

Fifth place is the place to which not being mathematically out of the race as yet, virtually assures of second division berths.

As for the remaining games remaining the Knights play three games with Mission, one game with the Minstrels, one game with the Engineers, and Knight tied for fourth. Opperman, Rogers, and Harden each with 43 points to his credit.

Tri-State Conference Standings

	Won	Lost	Pct.	Pts.	Opp.	Avg.

Rogers, f, Wartburg	43	6
Kaiser, c, Wartburg	56	6
Sutton, c, Mission	56	6
Lewis, f, Engineers	54	6

The conference race has settled down to a two horse race between Mission House, the Engineers, and Wartburg with the Minstrels being apparently holding the pole position with four games to go. The Minors although leading the pack in the lead have yet to have enough power to carry them to the tape because they have yet seven

KNIGHTS CLOSE CONF. CAMPAIGN

Conference Leaders Provide Opposition for Knights in Last Conf. Games.

After having two of their three games postponed these past two weeks the Knights are preparing to resume their conference schedule in two games against Mission House and the Platteville Miners. Beginning now evening, however, the Wartburg team will meet Edward at Dubuque of Iowa Falls in Waverly. Then on Saturday, Feb. 22, the second place Mission House team will battle with the Knights and the following Tuesday, Feb. 25, the Knights will meet the top dog of the previously postponed contest. This game will be played in Mission House's home gym and the Knights will return home with Independence Saturday, March 7. The independence game will be played on Mining Day, but the other dates have not yet been decided upon.

The remaining conference games should prove to be two exciting contests. Mission House has previously downed Wartburg on their home floor and the latter being in first place with Mission, just as one behind. If the Knights come through with two wins, they may between and the conference race may be changed.

Thus, Texas: "I believe Wartburg should have a student council. This would enable the students to be represented in the committees which govern their activities.

Arthur Hansen, 24, is enrolled for the second semester at Mankato college, St. Paul, Minn.

Knight Flashes

The Elkadets seem to have his thrifty pass in turning back their conference invaders. Northwestern and Milton were the victims of Elkadets wallops in the week-end of January 31-Feb. 1. The Northwestern Gamers had a comfortable victory over the Coalings, playing a fast game for 40 minutes to win from Watertown, 32-23 on Friday night and went on the next evening to play almost faultless basketball. Developing the formidable Milwaukee quintet by a 37-31 score after the Engineers had dropped the Knights 37-23 on their own floor the week previous. Harden and Opperman Knights defeated against overwhelming odds to a lead. Harden performed but their gallant attack was not to be checked by the Engineers. Who consequently succumbed to the Knights, playing their home game. Had Kaiser finally forced to admit defeat at the hands of an heroic Orange and Black quintet.

* * *

And not only the Knights on the Wartburg team but equally as much all their followers in the bleachers show determination in defeat. Not so Aggieboys. Every basket every time the Knights scored, every time every brilliant play was made, the Aggies had body to their feet and in a vociferous approval of the tactics employed by the Orange and Black basketeers which contrasted almost unfortunately in its life and forced up to the Aggie bleachers.

* * *

The following week-end the Knights travelled to Elkader to complete by overpower the Aggies by a 40-16 score, the worst spanking that Coach Bartel have administered in any team this season. Coach Bartel sent every one of the boys into the game at the trip in handing the Elkadets this actual drubbing, emptying the first string for only 24 minutes of the game.

* * *

It seems utterly hopeless for any opponent to attempt to cope the Wartburg attack. Northwestern had two men on Kaiser who had proved the best Knight pivot. Kaiser was Watterson so Harden and Opperman carried the brunt of the Wartburg offense scoring nine points each. Harden and Opperman were the Knights leading scorers which Harden and Nyman, who had the Knights with 13 and nine points respectively at Milwaukee. The Engineers succeeded in throwing Bobby but Harden duplicated his performance, and scoring for Kaiser, who added 14 points to Harden's 11 to lead the Knights to their fifth conference win.

The case with which the Orange and Black romped over Elkader changes the great improvement the Knights have made over their early season performance. It was Bhacker that gave the Herdsmen such a hard time in the early game of the season. Bhacker was outstanding in 19-9 lead over Knights in the second half had taken. The Wartburg team succeeded in whipping the Arabs 36-24, but was proved to use its final sting should the entire game. Wherever the Knights have gone and in every game they have played they have proved the results of the coaching under the tutelage of Coach Bartel. Bartel has molded a smooth-working, well-balanced basketball team and the results he receives from the Wartburg student body are well deserved.

* * *

By the way, it was Kretz who broke into the limelight by his brilliant display in the first Elkader game. He's been in there ever since, proving a good defensive man, playing a good game. Kretz and Opp have both been consistently annoying to the rival Knights.
